

SVS BROWN SHIPLEY GROWTH FUND

Factsheet to 31 December 2024

Fund Objective

The Fund aims to achieve returns through a focus on assets the Investment Manager believes will generate capital growth, as well as income, over the medium-long term (at least seven years). The Fund will invest, directly and indirectly, in a mixture of shares and fixed interest securities (being sovereign, investment grade and non-investment grade bonds). The allocation between the shares and fixed interest securities in which the Fund invests will be actively managed and will vary in response to short term market conditions. However, the allocation to shares, will remain within a 40% to 85% range. The Fund excludes issuers that derive more than 10% of revenue from thermal coal extraction or power generation, those that are involved in controversial weapons, issuers subject to EU arms embargoes and those that are deemed in violation of the UN Global Compact principles for over 3 years. In addition, the Fund integrates environmental, social and governance (ESG) factors in its investment process.

Commentary

The portfolio finished the year with a good Q4, supported by a strong performance from the US equity market. US stocks rose following the result of the US Presidential election and robust economic data, with the portfolio benefiting from the decision in November to increase exposure to the US market. For 2024, it was a positive year for equities across the board, with US markets leading the way. Bond markets were mostly positive, with higher risk sectors tending to outperform. The preference in the portfolio for higher quality bonds marginally held back returns, but overall, performance was ahead relative to peers (represented by the IA sector), with the decisions throughout the year to add to equities contributing to returns. The globally diversified approach within the portfolio has helped support performance during periods of volatility, with the strategy well positioned to capture growth whilst mitigating risks.

The portfolio is positioned to benefit from a combination of long-term structural trends (including AI, new infrastructure, cybersecurity, circular economy, among others) as well as to selectively exploit near-term, tactical opportunities. With inflation falling in the near term, interest rates have room to come down further, which should support global growth in 2025. As such, we therefore maintain a slight preference for equities over bonds at this stage of the cycle.

Overall, the portfolio remains well positioned to continue to grow as well as to navigate uncertainty both in markets and in the global economy.

Investment Risks - This fund predominately gains exposure to higher risk UK and international growth based assets through investment in other investment funds whose individual risk profile may not match that of the Growth fund, while exposure to UK markets is generally through direct equity holdings. Global currency fluctuations contribute to fluctuations in the value of the investment. Investment Trusts, Sovereign Bonds and Structured Products do not represent significant holdings but where used carry specific investment risks; with structured products there is a risk of insolvency of the underlying issuer, while Investment Trusts may borrow to invest and, where borrowing is used, the gains or losses in those underlying investments are exaggerated. The value of bonds are affected by relative movements in interest rates. Please refer to the Key Investor Information Document and the fund prospectus for further fund information.
