

SVS BROWN SHIPLEY CAUTIOUS FUND

Factsheet to 31 March 2026

Fund Objective

The Fund aims to achieve growth through a combination of capital and income over the medium term (at least five years). The Fund will invest, directly and indirectly, in a mixture of shares and fixed interest securities (being sovereign, investment grade and non-investment grade bonds). The allocation between the shares and fixed interest securities in which the Fund invests will be actively managed and will vary in response to short term market conditions. However, the Fund operates a cautious strategy, meaning that the allocation to shares, will remain within a 0% to 35% range. The Fund excludes issuers that derive more than 10% of revenue from thermal coal extraction or power generation, those that are involved in controversial weapons, issuers subject to EU arms embargoes and those that are deemed in violation of the UN Global Compact principles for over 3 years. In addition, the Fund integrates environmental, social and governance (ESG) factors in its investment process.

Commentary

Global markets saw a sharp downturn in March as the conflict in Iran weighed heavily on investor sentiment. Equity markets declined across all regions, with emerging markets underperforming and falling 13%, partly due to a reversal in South Korean equities after strong early-year gains. US equities fell about 5%, while European markets declined nearly 8%. Elevated energy prices drove notable bond market moves, pushing US Treasury yields higher by around 40 basis points. In Europe, short-term yields rose more than long-dated yields as expectations for rate hikes increased. The US dollar strengthened almost 3% on safe-haven demand. Commodities were highly volatile: Brent crude surged over 63% and natural gas rose more than 40% due to supply disruptions, while gold fell 11%, pressured by dollar strength.

We made several changes to the portfolio over the month. In fixed income, exposure to US treasuries was reduced by taking profits, reflecting concerns that rising fiscal spending ahead of US elections could increase volatility. At the same time, an allocation to emerging market local-currency bonds was introduced, supported by attractive yields and exposure to selected oil-exporting economies, funded by a reduction in UK gilts amid rising political uncertainty.

In equities, developed market small-cap exposure was added, reflecting attractive valuations, a more domestic focus, and potential benefits from higher government spending. This was funded by trimming emerging market equities while maintaining an overweight exposure. US dollar exposure was returned to neutral, gold was added for diversification and safe-haven protection, and hedge fund allocations were unchanged.

Investment Risks - The fund balances equity investment risk with exposure to Sovereign and Corporate bonds. Exposure is gained through investment in other funds whose individual risk profile may not match that of the Cautious fund, while exposure to UK markets is generally through direct equity holdings. Bonds are affected by the relative movements in interest rates, and the risk of default by the sovereign or corporate issuer. Global currency fluctuations contribute to fluctuations in the value of the investment. Investment Trusts and Structured Products do not represent significant holdings but where used carry specific investment risks; with structured products there is a risk of insolvency of the underlying issuer, while Investment Trusts may borrow to investment and, where borrowing is used, the gains or losses in those underlying investments are exaggerated. Please refer to the Key Investor Information Document and the fund prospectus for further information.
