

SVS BROWN SHIPLEY INCOME FUND

Factsheet to 30 November 2025

Fund Objective

The Fund aims to achieve returns through a focus on assets the Investment Manager believes will generate income, as well as capital growth, over the medium term (at least five years). The Fund will invest, directly and indirectly, in a mixture of shares and fixed interest securities (being sovereign, investment grade and non-investment grade bonds). The allocation between the shares and fixed interest securities in which the Fund invests will be actively managed and will vary in response to short term market conditions. However, the allocation to shares, will remain within a 20% to 60% range. The Fund excludes issuers that derive more than 10% of revenue from thermal coal extraction or power generation, those that are involved in controversial weapons, issuers subject to EU arms embargoes and those that are deemed in violation of the UN Global Compact principles for over 3 years. In addition, the Fund integrates environmental, social and governance (ESG) factors in its investment process.

Commentary

Markets generally took a breather in November with returns from most asset classes hovering a few percent either side of zero over the month. Defensive investments tended to lead the way as investors showed some caution on the back of valuation concerns and uncertainty following the US government shut down.

Equity markets saw Japan lead the way, supported by a weaker Yen, whilst US equities were largely flat, despite a good third quarter earnings season. UK equities were also broadly unchanged over the period. By investment style, value outperformed growth over the month.

Bond markets had a relatively muted month with uncertainty regarding the next step in US interest rates keeping investors on the sidelines. UK market focus was on the Budget which, in the end, threw up fewer surprises than some had anticipated. Gilts were generally supported by the Chancellor's plans with yields broadly falling (prices rising) over the period.

Over the month we reduced the gold exposure in the portfolio given the precious metal had reached our year end forecast. We felt that the recent rally in the gold price had been primarily driven by speculative flows rather than Central Bank buying. The proceeds were reinvested into UK gilts.

We also switched our Japanese Government Bond (JGB) exposure into the equivalent GBP hedged units. The holding offers a pick up in yield for GBP investors and remains a diversifier in the portfolio given the safe-haven status of the asset class.

Past performance is not a guide to future performance. The value of your investments represents the cumulative effect of all of the underlying investments and can fall as well as rise. The value of an investment or any income received from it, is not guaranteed and you may not get back some or all of the amount invested. Investors should seek tax advice to understand their personal liability for investment income and/or gains. This will depend on their personal circumstances and the prevailing tax rules, which are subject to change. Investment Risks - This fund predominately gains exposure to income producing assets through investment in other investment funds whose individual risk profile may not match that of the Income fund, while exposure to UK markets is generally through direct equity holdings. Global currency fluctuations contribute to fluctuations in the value of the investment. Investment Trusts, Sovereign Bonds and Structured Products do not represent significant holdings but where used carry specific investment risks; with structured products there is a risk of insolvency of the underlying issuer, while Investment Trusts may borrow to invest and, where borrowing is used, the gains or losses in those underlying investments are exaggerated. The value of bonds are affected by relative movements in interest rates. Please refer to the Key Investor Information Document and the fund prospectus for further fund information.
