

SVS BROWN SHIPLEY BALANCED FUND

Factsheet to 30 November 2024

Fund Objective

The Fund aims to achieve growth through a combination of capital and income over the medium term (at least five years). The Fund will invest, directly and indirectly, in a mixture of shares and fixed interest securities (being sovereign, investment grade and non-investment grade bonds). The allocation between the shares and fixed interest securities in which the Fund invests will be actively managed and will vary in response to short term market conditions. However, the Fund operates a balanced strategy, maintaining a balance between shares and fixed interest securities, with the allocation to shares remaining within a 40% to 85% range. The Fund excludes issuers that derive more than 10% of revenue from thermal coal extraction or power generation, those that are involved in controversial weapons, issuers subject to EU arms embargoes and those that are deemed in violation of the UN Global Compact principles for over 3 years. In addition, the Fund integrates environmental, social and governance (ESG) factors in its investment process.

Commentary

November saw markets turn their attention to the US Presidential election. The victory by Donald Trump together with the Republican party taking control of both Congress and the Senate was positive for US equities although returns from outside the region generally struggled as investors began to assess the impact of a potentially less global friendly US trade policy.

US equities, and the more domestically focused US small cap sector in particular, led the way in terms of performance, but it was a different story for emerging market stocks as the region struggled over concerns about US trade policy.

In fixed income markets, returns were supported by interest rate cuts from Central Banks, although gains were held back somewhat as markets anticipated increasing inflationary pressures in the US and the UK - the latter following October's budget whilst US markets were concerned about potentially inflationary policies from the incoming Trump administration.

During the month we made a number of changes to the portfolio. The low cost equity 'insurance' instrument on the US stock market was sold following the result of the US election, whilst the exposure to US equities was increased with an investment in an equal weighted S&P 500 tracker fund. European equity exposure was reduced following our downgrade for growth in the region. In fixed income, we reduced exposure to European corporate bonds.

Finally, we added a holding in Allianz shares, taking advantage of recent weakness in the share price. The exposure to the 'IT' sector in the portfolio was reduced.

Investment Risks - This fund predominately gains exposure to a combination of income and capital growth assets through investment in other investment funds whose individual risk profile may not match that of the Balanced fund, while exposure to UK markets is generally through direct equity holdings. Global currency fluctuations contribute to fluctuations in the value of the investment. Investment Trusts, Sovereign Bonds and Structured Products do not represent significant holdings but where used carry specific investment risks; with structured products there is a risk of insolvency of the underlying issuer, while Investment Trusts may borrow to invest and, where borrowing is used, the gains or losses in those underlying investments are exaggerated. The value of bonds are affected by relative movements in interest rates. Please refer to the Key Investor Information Document and the fund prospectus for further fund information.
