

SVS BROWN SHIPLEY GROWTH FUND

Factsheet to 31 March 2026

Fund Objective

The Fund aims to achieve returns through a focus on assets the Investment Manager believes will generate capital growth, as well as income, over the medium-long term (at least seven years). The Fund will invest, directly and indirectly, in a mixture of shares and fixed interest securities (being sovereign, investment grade and non-investment grade bonds). The allocation between the shares and fixed interest securities in which the Fund invests will be actively managed and will vary in response to short term market conditions. However, the allocation to shares, will remain within a 40% to 85% range. The Fund excludes issuers that derive more than 10% of revenue from thermal coal extraction or power generation, those that are involved in controversial weapons, issuers subject to EU arms embargoes and those that are deemed in violation of the UN Global Compact principles for over 3 years. In addition, the Fund integrates environmental, social and governance (ESG) factors in its investment process.

Commentary

Global markets fell sharply in March as the conflict in Iran hit investor confidence. Equities declined across all regions, led by emerging markets, which dropped 13%, partly reflecting a pullback in South Korean stocks after strong earlier gains. US equities fell around 5%, while European markets declined nearly 8%. Higher energy prices drove bond market moves, with US Treasury yields rising about 40 basis points. In Europe, short-term yields increased more than long-dated yields as expectations for rate hikes grew. The US dollar strengthened almost 3% on safe-haven demand. Commodities were highly volatile: Brent crude surged more than 63% and natural gas rose over 40% due to supply disruptions, while gold fell 11%, weighed down by dollar strength.

We made several portfolio changes during the month. In equities, we added developed market small-cap exposure, attracted by appealing valuations, a domestic focus, and potential benefits from increased government spending. This was funded by reducing emerging market equities, taking profits while keeping exposure slightly above long-term strategic levels. Within direct equities, we added

AT&T, Broadcom, and increased our position in Rheinmetall, funded by trimming strong performers such as ASML and Alphabet.

We also raised USD exposure back to neutral by shifting from hedged to unhedged US equities, reflecting expectations for near-term dollar strength amid elevated geopolitical volatility.

In fixed income, we introduced emerging market local-currency bonds, offering attractive yields, potential support from a weaker dollar, and exposure to selected oil exporters. This was funded by reducing UK gilt exposure.

Finally, we added gold exposure in March, partly funded by profit-taking in broad commodities, to benefit from heightened geopolitical tensions and supportive fundamentals.

Investment Risks - This fund predominately gains exposure to higher risk UK and international growth based assets through investment in other investment funds whose individual risk profile may not match that of the Growth fund, while exposure to UK markets is generally through direct equity holdings. Global currency fluctuations contribute to fluctuations in the value of the investment. Investment Trusts, Sovereign Bonds and Structured Products do not represent significant holdings but where used carry specific investment risks; with structured products there is a risk of insolvency of the underlying issuer, while Investment Trusts may borrow to invest and, where borrowing is used, the gains or losses in those underlying investments are exaggerated. The value of bonds are affected by relative movements in interest rates. Please refer to the Key Investor Information Document and the fund prospectus for further fund information.
